Date: Enter today's date

My intention for today:

Your intention is what you plan to implement with your mind, heart and actions. Follow the provided intentions for the first 30 days as part of the Life Coaching Intentions eCourse...then re-use your favorites or make up your own. This section should be filled out/reviewed at the start of your day. The rest of the sections should be completed at the end of your day.

Example: Today I intend to feel peaceful.

My observations of today:

Write down anything you noticed, learned, realized or experienced today.

Example: I noticed that I was able to feel peaceful most of the time. It was hardest when bombarded with messages from the TV. Maybe I don't need to be watching the news each and every night...It doesn't seem to be helping me maintain my peaceful frame of mind.

Who bothered me today?

Note anyone, in your personal experience, or on the news, TV, etc., that you experienced a negative emotional reaction in association with.

Example: Donald Trump, when he was bragging about his new building.

What aspects of myself am I uncomfortable with that allowed me to be upset by that person? Or, said another way, in what way did that person mirror an aspect of myself or the way I conceive of myself?

If this person upset you, there has to be a reason this particular person "pressed your buttons". What do you think it might be?

Example: Donald has no trouble communicating how great he and his projects are...I think people that do that are braggarts...But perhaps the truth is that I could stand to speak up more about my accomplishments. I think it bothers me that I don't speak up for myself enough.

What thought/idea troubled me or stressed me today?

Write down something that stressed you today.

Example: I don't really want to go to Aunt Edna's house on Sunday.

What would be the best way to handle this? (Choose best option and describe strategy)

✓ Action Step and/or Communication: Something to say or do.

Example: I will phone Aunt Edna tomorrow, thank her for the invite, but let her know I won't be able to make it on Sunday.

□ Reframe: A better way to think about this that is also true, but is more positive.

□ Forget about: I can't control this, so I need to let go of the worry.

□ Other: Another positive approach I can take.

What I learned today:

Write a few thoughts about what you learned today. Getting in the habit of asking yourself this every night will enhance your learning and growth!

Example: Today I learned that I sometimes allow my environment to get to me and take me away from the peace I want to have inside.

Compliments/kind acts given today:

Example: I thanked Bob for his excellent work on the Acme project today...He seemed really appreciative of that.

Compliments/kind acts received today:

Example: That nice man at the grocery store pointed out when I dropped my wallet...Wow, did he save me a hassle!

What would I like to create most in my life right now?
Write about something you would like to have, be or create.

Example: I would like to spend more time on my painting.

Why?

Write about why this is important to you... What values of yours would this fulfill?

Example: Painting lets me express my creativity, and creativity is important to me.
It makes me feel like me.

What would it look like?

Describe what this would be like.

Example: I would keep my painting set up so it is easy to get to. I would have uninterrupted, sacred time for my art. I would have lots of supplies so I can always paint on a moments notice.

How would it feel? (Describe in writing then experience/enjoy the feeling as long as it is comfortable for you.)

Describe how this would feel, and really feel the feeling.

Example: It would feel so liberating and inspiring. It would feel like I am in the moment, with just creative energy flowing through me onto the canvas.

What I am grateful for:

List some things you feel grateful for.

Example: I feel grateful for my warm home, my pets, my family, my career, my artistic abilities, this great country I live in, my health, my car and my daily opportunities for growth and learning.

These people need special support/energy/prayer right now:

Example: Cousin Sarah as she faces her surgery tomorrow. The people of Iraq and those trying to help the situation there.

Is there anything else important for me to know/remember right now?

Ask yourself this question and see what answer you get!

Example: Although I have had some trying times of late, I can see that I am finding ways to be happier, and that is important to me.

Compliments/kind acts received today:

What would I like to create most in my life right now?

Why?

What would it look like?

How would it feel? (Describe in writing then experience/enjoy the feeling as long as it is comfortable for you.)

What I am grateful for:

These people need special support/energy/prayer right now:

Is there anything else important for me to know/remember right now?

Date:

My intention for today:

Day 27: Today I intend to not judge myself or anyone else.

My observations of today:

Who bothered me today?

What aspects of myself am I uncomfortable with that allowed me to be upset by that person? Or, said another way, in what way did that person mirror an aspect of myself or the way I conceive of myself?

What thought/idea troubled me or stressed me today?

What would be the best way to handle this? (Choose best option and describe strategy)
